1. INTRODUCTION

First Tech is dedicated to fostering an inclusive society that acknowledges the inherent rights of all individuals, irrespective of race, gender, language, religion, or any other status. Fundamental values of First Tech include a commitment to human rights and the establishment of equitable labor practices, as enshrined in the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa. We are devoted to upholding and promoting human rights in alignment with the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights in our interactions with stakeholders. This commitment applies both to our role as an employer and as a service provider in the financial sector, creating value for a diverse range of stakeholders, including shareholders, clients, and society at large.

2. PURPOSE

This policy sets out First Tech's clear purpose regarding human rights: to advance and protect human rights in all aspects of our operations. To achieve this, First Tech's business is conducted ethically, accountably, and transparently, with a steadfast commitment to upholding and enhancing human rights. These principles are integral to First Tech's values, shaping every facet of its operations.

3. APPLICABLE PRINCIPLES AND ORGANISATIONS

- 3.1. Human Rights: Human rights are rights that everyone should have simply because they are human; the fundamental rights, freedoms, and standards of treatment that are internationally recognised as belonging to all human beings by virtue of being human. Fundamental human rights are found in the United Nations Declaration on Human Rights, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights, the eight core International Labour Organisation Conventions, and various covenants and treaties that implement these principles.
- 3.2. International Labour Organization: The International Labour Organization (ILO) is the international organization under the United Nations responsible for developing and overseeing international labor standards. It is the only United Nations agency that brings together representatives of governments, employers, and workers to jointly shape policies/programs promoting decent work for all.
- 3.3. ILO Conventions (ILO): The Freedom of Association and Protection of the Rights to Organize Convention, 1948; the Right to Organize and Collective Bargaining Convention, 1949; the Forced Labour Convention, 1930; the Abolition of Forced Labour Convention, 1957; the Minimum Age Convention, 1973; the Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention, 1999; the Equal Remuneration Convention, 1951; and the Discrimination (Employment and Occupation) Convention, 1958.

- 3.4. United Nations Global Compact (UNGC): The UN Global Compact is a strategic policy initiative for businesses that are committed to aligning their operations and strategies with ten universally accepted principles in the areas of human rights, labor, environment, and anti-corruption. The Global Compact exists to assist the private sector in the management of increasingly complex risks and opportunities in the environmental, social and governance realms, seeking to embed markets and societies with universal principles and values for the benefit of all.
- 3.5. Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR): The Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948. It contains thirty human rights that are expected to be universally respected and protected.

4. PRINCIPLES

First Tech is dedicated to upholding people's rights concerning freedom of expression and access to information. Acknowledging the Government's role in honoring the commitments of our Constitution to establish a just, free, and fair society, corporate entities like First Tech carry the responsibility of leveraging business influence to actualize these ideals.
